Overview

Angela Beierbach has experience in a wide range of litigation matters, including regulatory disputes, employment disputes, labour arbitrations, insurance defence, estate disputes, contract disputes, and subrogated actions. In addition to her general litigation practice, Angela also assists clients with their wills and estates matters. Angela is a strong advocate for her clients and has represented clients before the Court of Queen’s Bench of Alberta and the Provincial Court of Alberta. She also has experience with mediation and Judicial Dispute Resolution.

Prior to beginning her legal studies, Angela obtained a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology with Distinction from the University of Alberta. During her time as an undergraduate student, Angela gained valuable experience in scientific research recruiting for, conducting, and coordinating a large study as a research assistant.

Outside the Office

Throughout her academic and professional life, Angela has contributed to her community by volunteering with a number of organizations including animal rescue organizations, community support organizations, Edmonton Community Legal Centre, and Civil Claims Duty Counsel. In her spare time, she enjoys biking in Edmonton's river valley, crafting, travelling, and trying new restaurants.
